"Harkness brings her keen historian's eye to the American and French revolutions, drawing parallels between the two periods through not only the vampire witnesses to history but the appearances of historical figures: the Marquis de Lafayette, Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Paine."

—Los Angeles Times

"In Time's Convert, Deborah Harkness, the author of A Discovery Of Witches, spins a tale of life-ever-after, romance, and family drama, and it is gloriously entertaining."

—Bustle

"This vampire book is set during the American Revolution, when a young man named Marcus MacNeil is offered a chance to escape his puritan upbringing (boring!) and become immortal (fun!). From the bestselling author of A Discovery of Witches."

—New York Post

"Ever wonder what it really takes to be a vampire? Let Deborah Harkness, New York Times bestselling author of A Discovery of Witches, give you a taste in her latest novel . . . a passionate love story."

—PopSugar

"Effortlessly sweeping across time and continents . . . Harkness replaces the captivating Matthew and Diana dynamic with a passionate new love story."

KICKBACK: Exposing the Global Corporate Bribery Network

By David Montero

Nonfiction | Viking | November 13, 2018 | World Rights

Agent: Larry Weissman/ Larry Weissman Literary

Manuscript available

Investigative journalist and Emmy-nominated Frontline contributor David Montero's global investigation into international corporate bribery, arguing that this near-trillion-dollar shadow economy is a major factor in poverty, violence, environmental disaster and political instability in the developing world.

David Montero has documented the impact of corruption in South and South East Asia. Formerly a correspondent for The Christian Science Monitor and a producer for PBS's flagship investigative series, Frontline/World, Montero has also written for The Globe & Mail, The New York Times, The Nation, Le Monde Diplomatique, and many others.

ADVANCE PRAISE

“Read Kickback! It’s unique, revelatory and concise. It actually shows you how bribes work and who pays the price.”

—Lowell Bergman, Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist and David and Reva Logan Distinguished Chair in Investigative Reporting at UC Berkeley

“Kickback has everything: assassination plots, drug dealers, secret agents, prostitutes, and dirty sheiks, princes, governors, and presidents. But this crime thriller is a deeply reported book about the malfeasance of global companies with household names. David Montero skillfully pulls back the curtain on one of the best-kept secrets of corporate life: the corrosive and all-too-common business of bribery.”

HOW TO DISAPPEAR: Notes on Invisibility in a Time of Transparency

By Akiko Busch

Nonfiction | Penguin Press | February 12, 2019 | World Rights

Agent: Albert LaFarge Literary Agency

Manuscript available

Penguin
Press

In our increasingly networked and image-saturated lives, the notion of disappearing has never been both more enchanting and yet fanciful. Busch presents a field guide to invisibility, reacquainting us with the merits of inconspicuousness, and finds genuine alternatives to the typical life of perpetual exposure.

Akiko Busch is the author of several essay collections, including Nine Ways to Cross a River, a series of linked essays about swimming across American rivers and The Incidental Steward, published by Yale University Press in 2013. She was a contributing editor at Metropolis magazine for twenty years, and her work has appeared in numerous national magazines, newspapers, and exhibition catalogues. She is on the faculty of the School of Visual Arts in New York City.

His bylines have appeared in National Geographic, Smithsonian, Wired, Slate, The Wall Street Journal, Nature, and other publications, with a focus on the stories old skeletons can tell.

CALL IT GRACE: Finding Meaning in an Uncomfortable World

By Serene Jones

Nonfiction | Viking | March 19, 2019 | World Rights

Agent: Watkins/Loomis Agency, Inc.

Manuscript available in November

Drawing from the work of Hegel, Nietzsche, and other great minds, as well as from deeply moving and personal experiences, Rev. Dr. Jones offers readers a rich guidebook for living a more honest, grace-filled life.

Rev. Dr. Serene Jones is the president of the historic Union Theological Seminary in the city of New York. The first woman to head the 180-year-old institution, Jones occupies the Johnston Family Chair for Religion and Democracy. Jones came to Union after seventeen years at Yale University, where she was the Titus Street Professor of Theology at the Divinity School, and chair of Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. Jones is the author of several books including Trauma and Grace.

NAAMAH: A Novel

By Sarah Blake

Fiction | Riverhead | April 9, 2019 | World Rights

Agent: Frances Collin Literary Agency

Manuscript available

A visceral, arresting literary reimagining of the story of Noah's wife, the little-known woman who effectively rescues life on earth in the wake of the great flood. While mourning her lost lover, she interacts with guises of the divine and grapples with her own will to survive.

Sarah Blake is the recipient of a Literature Fellowship from the National Endowment for the Arts. Her poetry has appeared in American Poetry Review, The Kenyon Review, The Threepenny Review, Slice, and elsewhere.

ADVANCE PRAISE

"No longer a forgotten name, Naamah is achingly alive here, pulsing with questions and desires. Sarah Blake's prose is sensual, hallucinatory, dream-sharp—a beguiling debut from an immensely talented writer."

—Leni Zumas, author of Red Clocks

"Sarah Blake's dazzling novel Naamah offers a new vision of storytelling and belief, rendered through the body of a woman. In this beautiful reconception of a flood, Noah's wife emerges as an earth-bound soul savior as well as a desiring body capable of generating epic myth. In between hope and hell, and up against the divine, Naamah reminds us that the bodies and voices of women were always the heart of the story. Naamah is a new myth-making triumph."

—Lidia Yuknavitch, author of The Book of Joan and The Small Backs of Children

MORE THAN ENOUGH: Getting Free from the Boxes, Beliefs and Barriers That Hold You Back

Praise for Kitchens of the Great Midwest

"An impressive feat of narrative jujitsu. . . that keeps readers turning the pages too fast to realize just how ingenious they are."

—The New York Times Book Review, Editor's Pick

"This is a book that made me want to have a more full and colorful life, a life with cookbooks and a well-used kitchen, and to delight at all the goodness that can be put in front of us."

—Los Angeles Review of Books

"The author's gentle skewering of foodie snobs (from county fair doyennes to the vegan/gluten-free/soy-free police) is spot on, and the blend of humor, warmth, and longing that he uses to portray family relationships make the book insightful and endearing. Savor it page by page."

—Oprah.com

"Kitchens of the Great Midwest is a terrific reminder of what can be wrested from suffering and struggle – not only success, but also considerable irony, a fair amount of wisdom and a decent meal."

—Jane Smiley, The Guardian

"A tender coming-of-age story with a mix of finely rendered pathos and humor."

—Washington Post

"Stradal's first novel is a refreshing and brisk read, with a sophisticated sense of such glories of foodie culture as open-pollinated heirloom corn, pan-seared Walleye and Caesar Cardini's original Caesar Salad."

—BBC.com

"Tender, funny, and moving, J. Ryan Stradal's debut novel made me crave my mother's magic cookie bars...and every good tomato I've ever had the privilege of eating. Kitchens of the Great Midwest manages to be at once sincere yet sharply observed, thoughtful yet swiftly paced, and the lives of its fallible, realistic, and complicated characters mattered to me deeply. It's a fantastic book."—Edan Lepucki, bestselling author of California

THE OPTIMIST'S TELESCOPE: Thinking Ahead in a Reckless Age

By Bina Venkataraman

Nonfiction | Riverhead | August 27, 2019 | World Rights

Agent: Sterling Lord Literistic

Manuscript available

A trailblazing exploration of how we can think more strategically and thoughtfully about the future—our own, our family's, and our community's.

Bina Venkataraman teaches in the Department of Science, Technology and Society at MIT, and served as senior advisor for climate change innovation in the Obama White House where she led efforts for the first U.S. Presidential Climate Action Plan and built partnerships between the government and the private sector to combat climate change. A former fellow at the New America Foundation, she is a former Director of Global Policy Initiatives at the Broad Institute of Harvard & MIT.

ADVANCE PRAISE

"Most of us only see the future after it becomes the past. The Optimist's Telescope is here to change that. It's a rare read that's as fascinating as it is important. In it, Bina Venkataraman brings together powerful narrative, cutting-edge behavioral science, and the rich experience of a high-impact career."

—Adam Grant, author of Originals and Give and Take, and coauthor of *Option B

"The unknown can always be scary. But in this wise, eye-opening, and hopeful book, Bina Venkataraman shows us the ways we can think more clearly and strategically about the future - in our communities, our families, and in our own lives."

—Arianna Huffington, Founder and CEO at Thrive Global

"Bina Venkataraman has written a how-to book about making better decisions for ourselves, our communities, and Earth itself. She introduces us to an array of colorful and unexpected characters, from ancient philosophers to tech entrepreneurs, all while distilling the science of foresight into practical advice we can all use. A timely and valuable book."

—Anne-Marie Slaughter, author of *Unfinished Business

"[The Optimist's Telescope is] a noble and important book. Taking stories of people who have made a difference and an awareness of how things can be made better, it examines how we can incentivize good behavior, effect change, and make the world a better place. Bina Venkataraman is the good parent this planet so desperately needs."

—Errol Morris, filmmaker and author of *Believing Is Seeing

RULE OF BAD

By Roy F. Baumeister and John Tierney

Nonfiction | Penguin Press | September 3, 2019 | World Rights

Agent: ICM Partners

Manuscript TK

To find out why adverse events have a bigger impact on people than positive events, Roy Baumeister and John Tierney, authors of Willpower, have teamed up again to explore how the “evil edge” affects people’s minds and behaviors, how it helps and how it harms, and how it can be put to use and how it can be overcome.

Roy Baumeister is a social psychologist who explores how we think about the self, and why we feel and act the way we do. He is known for his work on the subjects of willpower, self-control, and self-esteem, and how they relate to human morality and success.

John Tierney writes the "Findings" science column for The New York Times. His writing has won awards from the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the American Institute of Physics.

THIS COULD BE OUR FUTURE

By Yancey Strickler

Nonfiction | Viking | September 3, 2019 | World Rights excl. UK

Agent: Janklow & Nesbit Associates

Manuscript TK

As Yancey Strickler came to understand by creating and growing Kickstarter, an idea can change the world and the unending quest for the mighty dollar—which has led to vast separation of wealth, exploitation, environmental collapse, and unhappiness—is not inevitable. This Could Be Our Future introduces a mass audience to his ultimate goal: the decline of financial self-interest as society’s dominating force by 2050.

Yancey Strickler is the co-founder and former CEO of Kickstarter. He was one of Fortune’s 40 Under 40, on Vanity Fair’s New Establishment List, and a World Economic Forum Global Leader. He has appeared on numerous shows—Charlie Rose Show, NBC, CNN, MSNBC, etc.—and has been profiled in Wired, New York Times, Financial Times, Forbes, and Vox, among others.

WALKING ON THE CEILING: A Novel

By Aysegul Savas

Fiction | Riverhead | April 30, 2019

Agent: Aevitas Creative Management

Manuscript available

Set against the backdrop of Paris and a changing Istanbul, a young Turkish woman grapples with her past—her country’s and her own—as she struggles to make sense of a complicated relationship with a famous British writer who longs for her stories.

Ayşegül Savaş grew up in Turkey and Denmark. Her work has appeared in The Paris Review, Guernica, Pleiades, Your Impossible Voice and elsewhere, and was shortlisted for the Glimmer Train Fiction Prize and the Graywolf Emerging Writers Award. She has an MFA from the University of San Francisco. She lives in Paris and teaches at CELSA, the journalism and communications faculty of the Sorbonne.

ADVANCE PRAISE

“Ayşegül Savaş is an enormous new talent who writes with the rigor of Didion and the tenderness of Sebald. Walking on the Ceiling holds the immediacy of youth and the depth of long-earned wisdom at once. Its elegant voice is sure to summon old memories and longings from each reader, relighting them anew.”

—Catherine Lacey, author of The Answers

“In Walking on the Ceiling, Aysegul Savas investigates the inability of any story to accurately evoke lived experience—yet her unconventional narrative succeeds in doing just that. Savas’s celebration of the minutest details of Paris and Istanbul is juxtaposed, to devastating effect, against rising political tensions. This quietly intense debut is the product of a wise and probing mind.”

—Helen Phillips, author of The Beautiful Bureaucrat

“Walking on the Ceiling is an elegant meditation on grief, identity, memory and homecoming. Moving between Paris and Istanbul, the novel captures the tangle of narrative around history, both personal and collective. I fell in love with this book.”

—Katie Kitamura, author of A Separation
